The Bear River Massacre Site Tour, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This tour sponsored by the Fort Douglas Military Museum will visit the site of the Bear River Massacre, also known as the Battle of Bear River, which occurred on January 29, 1863, near the boundary of Utah and Idaho. The tour will be conducted by Robert Voyles, Director of the Fort Douglas Museum, and Ephraim Dickson, Curator of the museum. The tour will leave from the Fort Douglas Museum, located at 32 Potter Street on the south side of the Fort Douglas Parade Ground, at 9:00 a.m., Saturday September 19th, and will return by 5:00 p.m. The cost is $65.00 per person and includes transportation, a box lunch, and a copy of Bob McPherson's Staff Ride Handbook for the Battle of Bear River 29 January 1863. Reservations are required. Call (801) 581-1251.

Danger Cave Tours, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Located near Wendover in Western Utah, Danger Cave is one of the most significant archaeological sites in the Great Basin. Work at the site began in the late 1940s by the University of Utah and yielded evidence of human use of the site dating back more than 10,000 years. Ongoing research continues at the site, which is not generally open to the public. Visit the site from 10:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, September 19th, with archaeologists from State History's Antiquities Section. The tour is free, but reservations are required, as space is limited. Participants must furnish their own transportation to the site. For further information and reservations, contact Ron Rood at rrood@utah.gov or (801) 533-3564.
